

FETTERS PLAYED A LOW TRICK

Got Roasted For Persecuting Woman Who Rejected Him.

John W. Fetter evidently thought he had found a new way to be revenged upon a woman who refused to marry him, when he caused the arrest of Mrs. Alice Hamilton on a charge of selling liquor without a license, but he found out his mistake in the Police Court this morning. Mrs. Hamilton was discharged and Fetter received a scolding at the hands of Prosecuting Attorney Leach.

When the case was called Leach stated that License Inspector Meek had acted in good faith in making the arrest, but that he was acting upon information furnished by Fetter.

"This man, because he was rebuked by the defendant," said Leach, "sought revenge by having the woman arrested. I have seen letters he has written to her and he has admitted that they were genuine. I refuse to be made a party to his plot and I therefore ask for a dismissal."

"We admit that the License Inspector was acting in good faith," said Attorney A. L. Frick, who represented Mrs. Hamilton.

Judge Smith ordered the dismissal upon the Prosecuting Attorney's motion.

"This man called upon me several times at my apartments in a lodging house at Seventh and Washington streets," said Mrs. Hamilton afterward. "I learned that he had a wife from whom he is now seeking a divorce and children. When he wanted me to marry him I refused to have anything to do with him and one day I received the following letter from him:

"Miss Alice: You think you are quite alone, but there are others. Now I have always treated you right and still you will treat me with contempt and now you are going to turn the tables the other way and see. If you don't wish before I get through with you that you had treated me with a little respect. Understand, I don't mean to do you any bodily injury, but you may have a chance to use some of your loose cash in a way that will not suit your taste very well. I don't want to cause you any trouble, but I am not going to allow any woman to turn up her nose at me after being as good as I have been to you. Now, remember that this is no jest, and you have got to apologize or suffer the consequences and you will have to compromise personally and the sooner the better for you."

"I paid no attention to his threats and later I got this letter:

"Miss Alice: Those Government licenses you said you had was issued January 14th. Do you know what you answer for right and left before that date? I guess not. I will ask you to deliver these letters to me at my room tonight by 8 o'clock in the evening. I will be there at that time. Now there is no foolishness about this. You bring them yourself as I want to have a talk with you."

"My arrest followed soon after the receipt of that epistle. I think Fetter must be crazy. He tried to induce a married woman, who lived in our house to elope with him and he proposed to several others."

DR. PARDEE SAYS THAT HE IS A CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.

"I had made no formal announcement of my candidacy, but now that it is out, I will let it go at that."

Such was the statement made this morning by Dr. George C. Pardee, when he was asked about the gubernatorial boom which was inaugurated at a banquet of his friends last Saturday night.

"You see," continued Dr. Pardee, "I had intended making a formal announcement that I would seek the Republican nomination, but I had no idea that it would be made at the banquet given to County Auditor Ewing and Chairman Crowell of the Republican

DUTCH AUTHORITIES ASK FOR PEACE.

Government of Holland Sends a Communication to England and is Ready to Act.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The Government authorities were convinced that the Boer delegates now in Europe were willing to accept the cardinal points of the British peace terms, so frequently announced in Parliament.

Lord Lansdowne, the Foreign Secretary, replied in a friendly manner to the Netherlands proposal, but instituted inquiries in order to ascertain the extent of the powers delegated to Mr. Kruger and the other Boer representatives in Europe to act in behalf of the burghers in the field.

Great doubt is expressed at the Foreign Office here as to whether any negotiations carried on by the Boer delegates through the Dutch Government or other channels will be effective, since factitious guarantees in respect of the secret negotiations will be begun. This doubt in regard to the authority of Mr. Kruger and others to speak for the fighting burghers is perceptible in the statement of Baron van der Stel in the House of Commons as also detailed above.

The Government, however, especially favours any attempt at intervention and does not mention any terms.

It was learned by a representative of the Associated Press that the British Government intimated that it would not have been approached unless the Dutch authorities had been approached unless the

KELLY'S CARS ARE JUST LIKE REFRIGERATORS.

PEOPLE OF HAYWARDS AND SAN LEANDRO ARE GIVEN A HARD DEAL.

HAYWARDS, Jan. 28.—When the Oakland, San Leandro and Haywards Electric Railroad Company went into the hands of Kelly and the Oakland Transit Company several months ago, the latter company began at once to make a number of changes both in the operation and condition of the entire system. The effects of one of the most radical changes was not noticed at the time it was made, but it is now making itself manifest in a very marked manner.

Either out of pure disregard for the comforts of its patrons, or to save a few cents, the Oakland Transit Company, immediately upon the acquisition of the Haywards line, removed the electric heaters from all the cars. At first this change was not noticed because at the time the weather was comparatively warm. But since the recent cold weather has set in, travelers on the Haywards line suffer intensely from the extreme cold, all on account of the grasping, shortsighted business methods of Kelly and the Oakland Transit Company, who, to save a few cents, expose their patrons to all the unpleasantness of a fourteen-mile ride in a cold car, made colder by traveling at the rate of thirty miles an hour.

When the Haywards line was owned by the original company each car was fitted with some four or six electric heaters which made the cars habitable. In their present condition they are mere places in which passengers can sit and freeze until they reach their destination.

Those who feel the change most are the people from this place and San Leandro who are compelled to travel early in the morning and late at night. At these times the cars are not habitable, the passengers being compelled to walk up and down the aisle to keep warm. The number of complaints are increasing daily and the advent of the Southern Pacific line into the eastern part of Haywards will be greeted with great rejoicing by those people who are now compelled to travel over the line of the Oakland Transit Company.

FARMERS ENCOURAGED.

The recent rains have greatly encouraged the farmers of this section, who for some time were much alarmed over the dryness of the season. The rain has started the grain and grass and both are making good headway. For the season there has been a total rainfall of 50 inches, though not as large as that of previous years, has relieved the immediate demand and no doubt saved considerable grain and other products which were much in need of water.

REV. SAMUEL KELLY PUBLISHES A BOOK.

Rev. Samuel P. Kelly, formerly a well known newspaper writer and at one time on the staff of THE TRIBUNE, but now Rector of an Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, has written a book of Christmas and Easter services for children in Sunday Schools that is highly commended by Bishop Whittaker and other church dignitaries.

Bishop Whittaker has written a commendatory introduction to the book indicating its purpose, which avoiding the Santa Claus idea, teaches the Gospel truth clearly while giving attractive entertainment.

The work is an arrangement of stories and carols presented in tableau form, with fine illustrations and narration of Jesus and attendant incidents.

The music which is very sweet and appropriate to the theme, was composed by Lewis H. Redner.

The book has been published especially for churches and Sunday schools, and sold for fifteen cents a copy or $1.50 a dozen. Address Rev. Samuel P. Kelly, 705 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION

EMERYVILLE TRACK, Jan. 28.—The fifty-second annual convention of the Episcopal clergy of the Diocese of California opened at St. John's Church at 11 o'clock this morning. After the opening hymn and prayer Bishop Nichols gave an address. He chose for his text the words of St. Paul: "Endeavoring to keep the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace." At the close of the Bishop's address the Rev. Dr. Foutte administered the holy communion to the clergy and congregation.

Dr. Foutte was assisted by Rev. Mr. Reilly, Rev. Mr. Lyon and Dean Lewis.

The services closed with a hymn and a prayer. After the services the congregation assembled for organization.

The Bishop rapped for order at 1 o'clock, and after announcing the rules governing the seating of delegates, announced that the secretary would proceed with the roll call of the clergy.

Forty-four responded. The roll call of the lay delegates was then proceeded with. At the conclusion of the roll call, the requisite number of delegations from the parishes had been being present. Bishop Nichols declared the convention of the diocese open, while the congregation stood in prayer. Rev. Mr. Wilson was then elected secretary and W. E. Dean assistant secretary. The clergy, excepting the Bishop and the delegates from St. John's Parish were invited to take seats upon the platform. The convention then took a recess until 3 o'clock.

THE NEW YORK EXPLOSION

To many the immense damage caused by the explosion in New York may seem inexplicable but it is due to local conditions. Dynamite does its deadly work by concussion, and the more confined the air the more powerfully it operates. In New York the air spaces are small and confined because the city is so densely covered with tall buildings built close to each other. Naturally the shock of the explosion was terrible, and extended much further than it would have done in a more open country.

The accident, however, illustrates the dangers of storing large quantities of explosives in closely settled districts. Experience has time and again demonstrated that high explosives are always unsafe to handle. They are uncertain as the most experienced men know, and explode some times without apparent cause. A car loaded with dynamite has been known to be thrown off the track and wrecked without the powder exploding. At another time a load of dynamite standing still with nobody near it suddenly exploded. Makers of dynamite all say it is safe, and so it is till it goes off. Like the elk at Piedmont, it is safe until it becomes unsafe, and then there is a great smash.

The law against storing explosives in crowded neighborhoods should be strictly enforced. Had the law been obeyed in New York the damage from the explosion, assuming that it would have occurred, would have been comparatively slight.

SENATORS AND PADLOCKS.

Senators Dubois and Teller made themselves ridiculous by their vulgar attacks on General Wheaton in the Senate. Dubois' remarks were especially offensive and lacking in provocation. All through it was evident that the Silver Republican Senators who deserted to the Democrats were girding at the Administration under pretense of reproving General Wheaton. A very small spark kindled the blaze. Professor Schurman of Cornell University delivered an address in Boston in which he spoke of the Philippine situation with considerable frankness. His remarks attracted much attention, because Professor Schurman was the head of the first commission appointed by President McKinley to investigate and report upon the conditions in the Philippine Islands.

General Wheaton, who holds an important command in the Philippines, criticized Professor Schurman's utterances as calculated to do much mischief in the islands. He said the effect would be to stir up the Filipinos and provoke further resistance to the Government. General Wheaton also inveighed against all who inspired false hopes in the breasts of the natives as in effect inciting rebellion.

All this is true. But the point is that Dubois and Teller assumed that he was rebuking them. Inferentially he was, but he made no reference to Senate or any Senator. In referring to Schurman's speech he expressed himself in regard to a class of utterances which he said caused sedition. Dubois and Teller hastened to plead guilty, by assailing General Wheaton for daring to criticize them. Teller protested against having a padlock on his lips, and all the while he and Dubois were trying to have padlocks put on the lips of all army officers.

One Senator went so far as to suggest that General Wheaton should be reprobated for criticizing Professor Schurman. This is absurd indeed. Professor Schurman holds no public office, and his utterances express merely the opinions of a private citizen. That a general in the army should be forbidden to criticize such utterances or to point out the effort they have on the problem confronting the officer is a most extraordinary proposition. Talk of padlocks! This is padlocking with a vengeance. Most all of it is directed at the efficiency of the national arms and is an attempt to frustrate the declared policy of the Nation.

People on the Pacific Coast do not realize the severity of the winters in the Eastern States nor the extraordinary rapidity of meteorological changes. At Clinton, Missouri, the mercury fell from twenty degrees above zero to twenty-nine below—a change of forty-nine degrees—in twelve hours. The terrific cold waves of the winter have their counterparts in the blistering torrid heat waves of the summer. It is pleasant to live in a land which is not visited by these extremes of heat and cold. We talk of its being cold when the mercury falls below forty; but such weather would be considered mild and balmy in the East.

Senator Perkins has scored quite a triumph in getting his bill appropriating $1,500,000 for a new custom house in San Francisco favorably reported in the Senate. San Francisco is badly in need of a custom house, the present one being too small and wholly unsuitable, but it is very difficult to get an appropriation large enough to erect the proper kind of a structure. San Francisco is among the three or four leading ports of the United States, and does an enormous import business, being second only to New York in this respect. Senator Perkins' efforts are therefore worthily directed and deserve to succeed.

The effort to side-track the Nicaragua Canal bill with a scheme to have another survey made of the Darien route is not even disguised. Its promoters scarcely conceal the fact that it is merely a club to hit the Nicaragua Canal with.

The news that the Mayor of Ogden had been fined ten dollars is supplemented by another important bit of intelligence. They found the goods on him.

District Attorney Jerome of New York ought to know better than to get into a fight with a coroner. The coroner might sit on him.

When Clement appeared his head was swathed in bandages.

"Well, you may go," said Judge Smith, "and if you are ever here again I will go hard with you."

UNDER SHOWER OF BOILING WATER.

JOHN KEYER, AN ENGINEER MEETS WITH A HORRIBLE ACCIDENT WHILE AT WORK.

John Keyer, engineer at the syrup refinery of the California Mercantile Company on First street near Broadway was scalded almost to death while at work at that place yesterday. He is lying at his home, 938 Thirty-sixth street, in a painful condition, though there are hopes entertained that he will recover. Keyer was scalded literally from head to foot. He left his work at the engine and got into the melting room while the melting of honey was in progress. He climbed a few steps, slipped on a plank and thus overturned a barrel of boiling water, the contents of which were showered upon the unfortunate engineer. No firemen or agents received medical attendance. When his clothes were being taken off, the flesh in many places adhered to them. If Keyer recovers he will be marked for the rest of his life. He has a family and is 66 years of age.

WHOLESALE GROCERY FOR OAKLAND.

A new enterprise, in the way of a wholesale grocery, the first of the kind in Oakland, is to be inaugurated here under the proprietorship of the Columbia Mercantile Company. The nucleus of this organization is what is now known as the California Mercantile Company, which is engaged in refining syrups on First street between Broadway and Franklin streets. Owing to the fact that another organization has been incorporated under this name in San Francisco, the title which has heretofore been employed will be changed to the Columbia Mercantile Company. Books handling a full line of articles, as well as the company will continue its refining and manufacturing business as at present. The quarters now used will be enlarged by an addition 75x12 feet, three stories in height. Work on this structure will be begun next week. The capital of the concern will be $150,000, of which amount $20,000 has been subscribed. The officers of the concern are: H. M. Orr, president; S. H. Williams, vice-president; Craighead Sharp, secretary; Central Bank, treasurer. S. W. Williams, manager of the California Mercantile Company, will be the manager of the new enterprise.

AMUSEMENTS.

Joe W. Spears of Spears' Comedians, in "The Irish Pawnbrokers" and other popular farce comedies, was looking around New York last summer for an original subject. Wandering through the East Side he discovered the sign of "Levi Murphy," whose shop had three gold colored balls in front of it.

"Here it is at last," he exclaimed jubilantly to a friend. "I'll write a new farce comedy and call it "The Irish Pawnbroker."

And he did. A "hook shop" keeper of Celtic origin is a rare personality in business and new to the stage. The author introduced various comical situations, humorous dialogue and opportunities for numerous specialties, songs, dances, etc.

The company is headed by the Two American Mack and Maze Trumbull. The former the greatest of Irish teams and the originators of the tall and short Irishmen; the latter is the dainty soubrette whose work in the Hoyt farces won for her much praise and the distinction of being the best dressed comedienne in farce comedy. They are supported by a large and capable company of comedians, singers, dancers and a host of pretty girls.

"The Irish Pawnbroker" will be at the Macdonough tonight and tomorrow night.

DEWEY THEATER.

The great melodrama, "Lights o' London," was produced last night at the Dewey Theater before an immense audience. The auditors were just as appreciative as they were numerous, a circumstance which inspired the performers to their best work.

The play will run all this week.

DIEZ VAUDEVILLE.

An appreciative audience greeted the opening program for this week at the Diez Vaudeville House last night and applauded the performers in a most hearty manner. The management has displayed a performance lasting in scope and in the performances for this week will cause all of them readily find favor with the house. The same excellent bill will be produced every night this week, and this fact will warrant a large attendance each evening.

PECK'S THEATER.

Peck's Theater has become a permanent fixture in the amusement world of this city. It is crowded at the several performances given each day, and what is more, every performance gives satisfaction to the auditors. The program for this week includes the following: Moving Pictures, Al Clark, in one of Peck's original songs entitled "Where the Sweet Magnolias Bloom"; A. Hazard, the ventriloquist, the king of the blind face comedians; Al Clark, in one of Peck's original songs entitled "The Limited Mail"; the great spectacular finish; Prof. A. J. Topping, the mind reader, every afternoon and evening; new musical selections by J. E. McNeilhead.

HOPMANN COMING.

Hopmann is the latest exponent of a school in which our music class is Albert and Rosenthal. These artists development of piano tone, striving to make it more elegant in cantilena and more vocal and human in its tonal coloring. Rubinstein with his powerful hand, tempo, and also a variety of touches, gave us at last the approximation of the orchestra on the keyboard. And this manner Hopmann has inherited. Naturally it makes his playing stand out in compositions requiring passionate and intense treatment than in more tender and intimate music for salon. He will play at the Unitarian Church Thursday evening.

Embroideries

—fresh dainty creations of Spring 1902

A new period of importance has asserted itself for embroideries. Always useful and acceptable, they have again become stylish—in fact there is to be a craze for them this spring and summer. The first arrivals, now here to interest and please you, show many exquisite and novel designs. Among them are the new "blind" embroideries—flat, richly encrusted with the old torpedo edge or newly entwined arrangements of design, but without openwork, and consequently more nearly approaching hand-work in general appearance.

The widths of many of the new embroideries are specially designed for the adornment of summer dresses—in fact, the early models from Paris show dress skirts entirely covered with flounces of embroidery.

Always offering unusually good values in Embroideries, we are able this spring to emphasize this fact more than ever.

MERCHANTS ARE TALKING ABOUT A LARGE STREET FAIR FOR OAKLAND.

A movement is on foot among the business men of this city to hold a great street fair of one week's length in Oakland during the early part of May.

The project seems to find favor on every hand, and if the idea should be adopted, a meeting of the merchants will be called and committees appointed to go ahead and solicit funds to carry on the work of preparation.

It is proposed by the promoters of the project to make the fair a celebration of the prosperity enjoyed by the city during the past year and also use it as a means of advertising Oakland's splendid advantages to the home-seeker.

It is confidently expected that thousands of people from San Francisco and interior points would visit Oakland during the festivities, and on this account large contributions would without doubt be forthcoming from the transportation companies.

It is proposed to illuminate and decorate the city as has never been before, and also to build several high arches along Broadway.

The central point of the celebration would be at Fourteenth and Broadway, and from that place booths are to be erected on the sidewalks and streets in the four directions.

Oakland has never had a carnival of any size, and the project of a street fair would be the means of advertising the city and attracting the attention of the people of the whole Pacific Coast to the fact that this city is enjoying a season of unexampled prosperity.

MANAGER ADAMS TELLS OF THE WATER RATES

Answers Questions of the Councilmen and Explains What the Contra Costa Company Has Expended on Water Plant.

General Manager Adams of the Contra Costa Water Company appeared before the Ordinance and Judiciary Committee last night in obedience to a suggestion made by Cuvelier, who desired to hear what he had to say with respect to water rates.

Mr. Adams called attention to the annual statement filed by the Company, also the additional information filed in response to a special resolution adopted by the Council. He further cited the statement he had presented at a previous meeting of the Ordinance and Judiciary Committee, and said these made up the case of the Water Company, unless some of the members desired to ask him some questions. He added that he wished the Council would act on the matter as soon as possible because there were five municipal corporations which had to fix rates for the ensuing year.

"Do you consider the proper valuation for fixing rates the basis adopted last year with the amount expended for improvements added?" asked Cuvelier.

"I should not like to commit myself to that proposition," answered Adams. "The decision of the court fixed the valuation at seven millions, but that was not the basis for last year's rates."

"That is just the reason Judge Hart declared the rates fixed by the previous Council to be invalid," interrupted Cuvelier. "He quoted from the testimony of the chairman of the Fire and Water Committee certain statements and added et cetera, et cetera, I think I remember what that et cetera et cetera was, for I was the chairman of the Committee. The report stated that the Committee adopted the valuation fixed by a previous Council and added to it the value of the improvements as shown by the sworn statements of the Company." Cuvelier then went into a long discourse in which he argued that the value of the plant was fluctuating, and that it had decreased since the rendering of Judge Hart's decision because of the digging of wells.

"I don't know that it is my place to answer your argument," said Adams after he had listened for awhile.

"The court says the value is subject to redetermination yearly," replied Cuvelier. "If I understand Judge Hart correctly he did not decide that seven millions was the permanent value of the property—that was the value at that time he rendered his decision."

"Let me present my idea, and perhaps Mr. Adams can answer both of us at once," said Wixson. "According to my reading, Judge Hart decided that the Company was entitled to a revenue on seven million dollars. Now if ninety-five per cent. of the consumers were to dig wells, would we be required to fix the rates high enough to afford the revenue on the Court's valuation?"

"No, no," said Cuvelier. "Judge Hart says the value is fluctuating and subject to redetermination."

"I hardly agree with Mr. Wixson's proposition," said Adams. "That would affect the value of the property. My analysis of the value of the plant briefly stated was that it was what the plant cost plus the appreciation caused by increase in land values and consumers."

"Do you base value on the amount of revenue?" asked Dornin.

"Not the Supreme Court has decided that revenue does not fix value. It has also declared that cost of duplication is not a valid factor for rate-fixing purposes. It is an open question if you fix the valuation on the revenue and then make the revenue basis of valuation you go around in a circle. You begin with an assumption and make the revenue and valuation small or large, and there it always remains."

Dornin quoted from the Government reports showing the per capita cost of water works in cities of the class of Oakland and wanted to know why the per capita cost was higher in Oakland.

Adams replied that conditions here were different, that the cost of developing a water supply was greater in San Francisco and Oakland than any cities he knew.

"How much did the Contra Costa plant cost in actual outlay?" asked Dornin.

"Very nearly $7,000,000, something over six and half," replied Adams.

"What did the Oakland plant cost?" pursued Dornin.

"I believe the Contra Costa paid $1,000,000 for it," replied Adams.

Dornin—"How much did it cost the Oakland Water Company?"

JUDGMENT FOR DEFENDANT.

Saturday Justice Quinn rendered judgment for the defendant in the action of A. W. Smith vs. O. F. Hunt. Smith brought suit against Hunt to secure $20 which he alleged was due him for architect's plans which he had drawn for the defendant. The latter claimed that he had not used the plans and consequently did not have to pay for them.

The wrong food and drink cause a lot of trouble in this world. To change the food is the first duty of every person that is ill, particularly from stomach and nervous troubles. As an illustration: A lady in Hickman Mills, Mo., has, with her husband, been brought around to health again by leaving off coffee and some articles of food that did not agree with them. They began using Postum Food Coffee and Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food.

She says: "For a number of years I suffered with stomach and bowel trouble which kept getting worse until I was very ill most of the time. About four years ago I left off coffee and began taking Postum. My stomach and bowels improved right along, but I was so reduced in flesh and so nervous that the least thing would overcome me."

Then I changed my food and began using Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food in addition to my Postum. Coffee was given on these two principally for about four months. Day by day I gained in flesh and strength until now the nervous trouble has entirely disappeared and I feel that I owe my life and health to Postum and Grape-Nuts.

"Husband is 73 years old and was trouble for a long time, with occasional cramps, and him to leave off coffee and take Postum. He had got out for a long time, but after he tried Postum for a few days he found that he could sleep and that his cramps disappeared. He was satisfied and has never had coffee since.

"I have a brother in California who has been using Postum for several years; his wife uses it because they have had such good results from it."

PILES CURED After 30 Years.

J. J. Doan has commenced an action in Justice Dunn's court against Warren Cheney, Mrs. A. H. Sully, Mr. Sulley, Mr. Thorer and Mrs. Thorer to secure $2000 for the amount of merchandise purchased by the defendants from Gindling Bean Company and assigned to the plaintiff.

SAYS HE LOANED MONEY.

Thomas Donnellan has filed a suit against Reese Donnellan to secure $90.75 which the plaintiff loaned the defendant. The action was filed in Justice Quinn's court.

Adams—I don't know. Dornin—What was it worth? Adams—I think I showed that it was about what the Contra Costa paid for it.

ROBBERS PAID THE PENALTY ON GALLows

They Killed a Cashier in an Attempt to Steal $8,000.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 28.—West on M. Kelper and Henry Howe were hanged at 10 o'clock today in the presence of 1,000 persons for the murder of Charles W. Ryan. The murderers went to their death without a shudder and neither made any statement on the gallows.

Howe and Kelper had for several years worked in and about the mines at Lyons, Pennsylvania. During the morning of March 13th last they visited the Halifax National Bank of Franklin County, and with drawn revolvers demanded of cashier Frank W. Ryan the cash in the vaults. They quickly gathered into it all the money in the cash drawer amounting to about $8,000. While one of them was fastening the sack he laid his revolver on the cashier's desk.

Mr. Ryan seized the weapon and in a desperate struggle which ensued the cashier was shot in the breast, dying several hours later.

Howe and Kelper were captured by citizens. Within two weeks they were tried and convicted of first degree murder.

ACCIDENT TO THE SOLANO.

Train dispatchers at the Oakland mud have been very busy for two days past on account of the breaking of the rudder on the big ferry steamer Solano, at Port Costa, which necessitated the sending of nearly all the north and east bound trains by way of Stockton.

The Solano was repaired last night and went on her regular ferry run across Carquinez Straits at 7:30 this morning, and as a result Capt. Dispatcher G. D. Wright and his corps of assistants at the mud became easier.

TARIFF BILL PASSED.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—When the Philippine Tariff bill was taken up, Mr. Nixon of Georgia offered a joint resolution containing that portion of the bill relative to shipping in the Philippines. He wanted it passed immediately, saying that it was the really urgent portion of the bill. The minority would make no objection to the resolution and it could pass the House and become a law at once.

Mr. Quayles demanded a separate vote on the amendment by which the Census Bureau was restricted from acting in the new Department. By a vote of 5 to 4 the Census Bureau was retained in the measure as one of the units of the new Department.

The bill was then passed.

CUBANS MAKE A PLEA TO COMMITTEE

Say the Platt Amendment Has Chained Them to This Country.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—At the Cabinet meeting today Secretary Root read a private letter from General Chaffee, which denied the reports of friction between the military and civil authorities in the Philippines and gave a very encouraging resume of the situation. His statement was considered very gratifying by the President and the members of the Cabinet. The discussion in the Senate yesterday concerning General Wheaton came up incidentally, and Secretary Root read General Wheaton's record, which showed that he had enlisted in the volunteer army at the beginning of the Civil War, and after gallant service at the close of the war had been appointed to the regular army and had risen through each successive grade to the rank of Major General.

Postmaster General Payne talked briefly about the progress of the mail franchise and the "out" publications from second class mail provision. The course of the department in this respect is meeting with opposition, but progress is being made.

DEATH OF YOUNG HEYDENFELDT.

REMARKABLE CAREER OF A YOUNG MAN WHO WAS WELL KNOWN.

The death of Leo O. Heydenfeldt at his home in Fruitvale Sunday night marks the close of a career that was remarkable for its varied experiences and unique adventures. After an illness of only a few days Heydenfeldt succumbed to a sudden attack of typhoid pneumonia.

Young Heydenfeldt was born in San Francisco twenty-eight years ago, and his name has been before the public almost since infancy. He was one of the five children born to the first wife of the late Supreme Judge Solomon O. Heydenfeldt. The eminent jurist left two families, the members of the first denying the legitimacy of the second, and a will contest followed. For years it was on the dockets of the San Francisco courts and was but recently settled.

The second means by which the Heydenfeldt gained publicity was his acquaintance with the notorious Rev. Kenneth Duncan. While a student at the State University Heydenfeldt met Duncan, who was then pastor of the Howard Presbyterian Church of San Francisco. Duncan disappeared for two weeks, and it was subsequently learned that he had been "doing the town" with young Heydenfeldt and several of his gay companions. Duncan later developed into a morphine fiend and finally became a thief. In his former days, however, he was a pulpit orator of considerable eloquence.

The next escapade of young Heydenfeldt was his marriage to the widow of the late Judge Fearing of Santa Rosa. She was several years his senior and had three children, while Heydenfeldt had not attained his majority. In those days, however, tug-boat marriages were the fashion, and he and Mrs. Fearing made a formal and suitable marriage outside the heads of the captain of the tug-boat performing the ceremony. After his marriage Heydenfeldt left college and since then he has followed a number of callings, for at times he has been a saloon-keeper in San Francisco, and he also lived for a year on a farm at Walnut Creek. For several years he and his family have lived at Fruitvale. From both his father and mother he inherited fortunes, but unfortunate speculations have reduced them to a mere pittance.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Maud Heydenfeldt, he leaves three children, three step children, two brothers—Thomas O. and Fred O. Heydenfeldt—a sister-in-law—Mrs. L. Helling—and a number of half-sisters and brothers.

The funeral of Leo Heydenfeldt will be held tomorrow at 1:30 o'clock at Odd Fellows' Cemetery, San Francisco, and the remains will be cremated.

WILL TRY TO STARVE OUT THE GOUT.

W. C. Arnett of Shasta county has come to Oakland to try an original treatment for gout. For a month he has lived at 403 Ninth street and during that time he has eaten nothing and he has lost 45 of his original 250 pounds. He says he will continue his fast until he has brought his weight down to 150 pounds. His only indulgence is his pipe, which he smokes almost constantly.

COUNCIL WANTS THE FLYER ON FIRST STREET.

MAKES A REQUEST OF THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC IN THE PREMISES.

The Committee of the Whole of the City Council last evening recommended to the parent body that the following resolution be adopted, relative to the proposed "Fruitvale Flyer":

"Whereas, It is rumored that the Southern Pacific Company intends, on or about February 1, 1902, to run an additional train on Seventh street to be known as the "Fruitvale Flyer"; and

"Whereas, Said train on leaving the Oakland pier will make no stops between the pier and Clinton station; and

"Whereas, The operation of the steam railroad on said street at the present time is a menace to life and limb, and by adding an additional train to the service would make it far more dangerous, also destroying property interests along said street, therefore do it."

"Resolved, That the Southern Pacific Company be and is hereby requested to run the train to be known as the "Fruitvale Flyer" on First street, and on the bridge connecting First street with the said First street, thereby accommodating the passengers of said train equally as satisfactorily as by operating the train on Seventh street and in no way interfering with the same."

The resolution was introduced by President Schaffer and upon his motion the City Clerk was directed to at once send a copy to the railroad officials. The vote was unanimous.

BRIGHT PUPILS IN LINCOLN SCHOOL.

Principal J. P. Garlick Sends a Paper to Tribune for Publication.

Principal J. P. Garlick of the Lincoln School sends the following to THE TRIBUNE for publication:

OUR MARTYR PRESIDENT, WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

The world mourns for a martyr, Our Nation's President. As the flowers that grew thro' the summer day At the call of the reaper have to obey, So he answered the message sent. A Nation mourns today, Mourns for its chosen chief.

He has been claimed by the reaper, Death, Who has swept him away and, in a breath, Has covered our country with grief.

As his country's friend he lived, As the people's friend he died. The spirit that shone in his kindly face Has gone to a happier resting-place, And stands at the Master's side.

His name is left remaining, His body lies down,

As his country's life he stood, And said, as Death's hand laid him low, God's will, not ours, be done.

A country's love remembers, And holds his memory high. His name shall live as his country's friend.

Posterity shall his name defend, As a martyr did he die. The noble life he led,

A stainless life, unknown by blame, With honor and untarnished name, Peace be unto the dead.

September 18, 1901.

By Nell Compton Wilson, age 12. This was written September 18, 1901, in the A Sixth Grade of the Lincoln School during the hour given to the composition exercise.

The matter of the City Attorney, to the effect that, if grades in the annexed district had been fixed by the Supervisors, the City Council would have to re-establish them before changing them, was referred to the Street Committee.
